Watch out Baby Boomers, the 2010 Gold Coast Young Entrepreneur of the Year will be named today at a shindig at RACV Royal Pines.

All 20 finalists are under 40 and well on their way up in the business world. The judges have a tough call, given the calibre of the field, which includes Moo Moos founder and serial restaurateur Steven Adams; Miessence founder Narelle Chenery; Wealthfar Group Director Nicholas Sinclair; Unit Clothing's Paul and Ian Everest; and Hall Finance's Roy Hall.

Guest speaker is Zarraffa's Coffee founder – and 2008 winner – Kenton Campbell, who will share his story of entrepreneurship, starting his company from scratch to 43 stores and counting.
